Republicans Sought To Interfere With the Democratic Reception. Closing Words of the Nebraskan's Campaign of Oratory and Travel.

Continuous cheering from the crowd following the carriage in which the candidate and Mrs. Bryan were seated and from the thousands along the sidewalks, marked Mr. Bryan's progress from the station up Fernam street to Boyd's theater. The enthusiasm was rampant. Not an inch of space was available in the theater when he arrived, and he received an ovation there and from a tremendous throng outside.

Another demonstration occurred, inside and outside Washington hall, and the candidate proceeded in his carriage to Germania hall, where he talked to an audierce of the natives of the Fatherland about what Prince Bismarck had to say about bimetallism. Metz hall, in the Bohemian district, and Moran hall, where the meeting was under the direction of the Swedish Bimetallist League, and Creighton hall followed in turn. Each was crowded to the doors and Mr. Bryan was received with the customary wild excess of partisan emotion. Governor Holcomb spoke at Moran's in support of the democratic ticket just before Mr. Bryan appeared.

Creighton theater was the scene of the last speech delivered by Candidate Bryan in his remarkable campaign.

These were Mr. Bryan's concluding words his last message to the free coinage

Do you wonder how we have been able to conduct this campaign? My friends, we have been able to conduct it by unselfish devotion of that multitude of men, democrats, populists and republicans, who see what the gold standard means, and, seeing it, have been willing to fight it in order to save their children and their children's children from this curse of gold. They tell us that we must bow down and worship the golden calf. I say, my friends, that the American people will not bow down. They will vote to restore the gold and silver coinage of the constitution and lead in the restoration of bimetallism throughout the

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will spend the night at the Paxton hotel and at 8:30 o'clock in the morning will leave over the Burlington for Lincoln, where the candidate will cast his vote and await the returns.

Gloriously in Lincoln, Neb. Lincoln, Neb., November 2.-His home city, Lincoln, gave its final hearty ratification of William J. Bryan's candidacy during the brief half hour he spent here this evening on his passage through this place to Omaha, from his Nebraska campaign trip. timates a Bryan Victory. To The Constitution-As to the general result I think Bryan's chance the better.

Of all the states which have been classed as doubtful Maryland is perhaps the most critical, but the republicans have no better ground for claiming it than the democrats

The doubt as to West Virginia has disappeared. It is democratic. I have not looked upon Kentucky as a doubtful state at any stage of the campaign. The electoral vote will go to Bryan easily. The net result of a careful analysis of all information from Indiana indicates a democratic majority in that state. Michigan seems to be delicately balanced between the parties.

If we lose Maryland, a point I do not concede, the other fifteen states of the "solid south" will give Mr. Bryan 151 electoral votes. The states west of the Missouri river may as reasonably be counted for the democratic nominee. They are California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, and they have sixty-one votes. Add this to the solid south, minus Maryland, and the Bryan column is brought up to 212, which is only twelve less than the number necessary to elect.

The field in which to look for this round foren is Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. If Bryan can carry any one of the above named states he will be chosen president. Indiana, I believe, will cast its vote for him. He has an even chance for Michigan and a good chance to carry any or all of the other four. The democrats of Ohio do not concede the state to McKinley. GOV. ALTGELD CLAIMS ILLINOIS

Says That the Democratic Nominee Is Certain To Win in the Electoral College.

To The Constitution-I have just completed a tour of the state, and have information from all parts of it. Comparing the conditions now with the conditions four years ago, I am satisfied we are going to carry Illinois by 60,000 to 80,000 majority. Here in Chicago the surface conditions are against us-the banks, the corporations and the wholesalers-but I found that the mass of the people are with us, and there be an intensity of feeling among the great mass of the people such as I never saw before. As for the result at large, inasmuch as Bryan needs only the southern states and the states west of the Missouri river, including Minnesota, his election is not only assured, but he is going to have the votes of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and even Ohio, to spare, for the latest information is we will carry these states. Chicago, Ill., November 2, 1896. JOHN P. ALTGELD.

Bryan stepped on the hotel balcony, a great cheer went up. There was nothing to mar the demonstration given Lincoln's most noted citizen. It was hearty and sinere and the candidate showed his appreciation in his speech. Mr. Bryan needed o introduction. C. Davey; third district, Robert Broussard; fourth district, H. W. Ogden; fifth district, S. T. Baird; sixth district S. M. Robertson.

The majority for Bryan would be larger but for the fact that the new election law which provides for the Australian ballot will cut down the vote some 40 per cent. Chicago, Ill., November 2 .- (Special.)-The last act of Mark Hanna, Henry C. Payne and their lieutenants today was to cable London and to wire New York messages which would boom the stock market. It was Hanna's last play to inspire confilence in the breasts of the moneyed classes. Stocks went up in response. But stocks went up because the sub-treasury withheld its report of the withdrawals of gold until after the stock market closed.

Six millions in gold was withdrawn fro the sub-treasury today. That means that rations today to protect itself. Hanna nimself may be one of this very crowd. SENATOR JONES GIVES BRYAN 255 VOTES Democratic Chairman Says the Issues Are Clearly Drawn and the People Will Win.

To The Constitution-Tomorrow the greatest political parties of the United States go to the polls on the most clearly defined issue presented since the war. Not in a third of a century have the lines been so sharply drawn and the limit so plainly set On one side is the republican party standing for the great crime against the millions; it seeks by further criminal practices to perpetuate the effects of that crime In order that millions may be added to the millions already writing from the neonle It stands between the robbers of the national treasury and their punishment.

On the other hand, the democratic organization, always the party of the constitution, the defender of the government from those who seek to ruin, and now containing within its organization all that makes for the liberty of the people and honesty of government. Its candidate is young, active and aggressive. Against him is the property of a presidential syndicate, a debt-ridden thrall, lacking power or will to move independent hand or foot. Can there be any doubt as to the outcome of the result at the polls? In my opinion, the question has been settled for weeks. At no time in the last month has there been a moment when my faith was shaken. Truth is mighty and must prevail. There is nothing novel in this proposition; and by the end of the week its eternal verity will be established.

As to the detail of our victory, I see no reason to change my expression of Saturday. Mr. Bryan has 225 votes certain. At least seventy-five votes are in doubt.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN. Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 2, 1896.

The telegram threw the audience into tumult of enthusiastic cheering, which asted several minutes. Some time before the hour fixed for the final rally the basement was filled with lemocrats who were anxious to hear what the speakers had to say on the eve of the great battle of ballots. Promptly on the hour-8 o'clock-W, J. Mallard, president of the Young Men's Democratic League, rapped for order, and announced that William L. DeLay, the president of the Livingston club, had been elected to preside over the meeting. Mr. DeLay was introduced and was received with applause. Without much ado the chairman asked General Evans, who was sitting in the audience in the rear of the hall, to advance and address the meeting from the platform. General Evans walked up the aisle and was given an ovation. The crowd cheered him tumultuously for several minutes. . When quiet was obtained General Evans said: General Evans Speaks.

"I see by the snap of your voices, the gleam in your eyes, the fire of enthusiasm that stirs you that you are ready for the work and for the greatest triumph which the people of the union have ever known.

Because he has money behind him. That is true about the money, but wh that argument is advanced it remi publicans sent $150,000 into republicans sent $150,000 into Amazina, thinking they could buy the floating role and control that state. They divided out that money first among the managers of the congressional campaigns in the state and about 25 per cent of the fund stuck to the fingers of the leaders as it wen through. They in turn divided the fund among the senatorial district campal committees. A great deal more stuck the fingers of these manipulators as went through. By the time the fund h passed through the hands of all the poli-ical bosses and got to the purchaseable voters for whom it was intended there was only $5,000 left and the campular bosses thought this was too small as

PROTESTS COME Press of the State Says That Another

Election Would Be Dangerous. EXPRESSIONS FROM

mes-Recorder, Americus, Comes Out for Captain Howell.

MRS. MYRICK WRITES A STRONG EDITORIAL

Speaks at Length Upon the Situation and the Shame of Ingratitude. The Need of Patriotism.

Will the Georgia legislature consent to bring on an exciting primary election and bitter campaign simply to gratify Governor Atkinson's ambition to go to the United States senate?

That is the question that presents itself to the members of the Georgia legislature, and which, being presented to the demo crats of the state, has called forth & mighty protest from them.

Despite the efforts of Governor Atkinson's nmediate supporters to use the name of General Clement A. Evans as a lever to help along the governor's senatorial ambitions, it is perfectly plain to everybody that the governor's election to the senate and his resignation of the position to which he has been chosen by the people would begin a lively and perhaps bitter contest for the gubernatorial nomination and would undoubtedly result in a bitter campaign with the allied republican and populist forces. The republican and populist leaders make no secret of their desire to see Governor Atkinson chosen as senator. They believe that such a step would give them an excellent chance to carry the state, and If not, would at least result in great activity in their respective parties with the possibility of increasing their strength. This is particularly true of the populist leaders, who make the boast that if another election is precipitated they will carry the state. Whether this would be the result or not, conservative democratic leaders and the democratic masses are practically a unit in their demand that they shall be spared the bitterness of a conflict which they are in no condition at this time to undergo. A great many of General Evans's strongway Governor Atkinson's supporters are using his name to further their own purposes. They say it is simply making cats'paw of the general. Reports com from different counties showing systematic efforts on the part of Governor Atkinson's supporters to couple with an indorsemen of his candidacy the indorsement of General Evans for governor. It is perfectly plain to anybody who knows the inside of politics in those counties that should there be a vacancy in the governor's chair, the very men who secure the indorsement for General Evans would be found fightin him should he be a candidate for governor These men are for Mr. Berner, president of the senate, or for Colonel Bob Harde man, who will be an active candidate fo the governorship whenever there is a va cancy, whether it is at the end of Governo Atkinson's term or at any time before that General Evans's friends are perfectly and his followers have been hiding has been torn off. The press of the state continue to talk out in no uncertain terms concerning the situation. Governor Atkinson's followers are content with sneering at the criticisms rather than attempting to answer them, There can be no answer to them so far as the interest which the people have in the matter is concerned. Georgia does not want another election.

THE PRESS AND THE PEOPLE.

The Atlanta Commercial devotes the leading editorial of its last night's issue to this effort of Governor Atkinson to ride into power by using General Evans. In the course of its clear and forceful presentation of the situation The Commercial says: "The rumored deal by which Governo Atkinson is to be elected to the United States senate and General Evans to succeed him as governor, is, if true, the most shocking political bargain that was ever made over the hallowed ashes of the past. "We can see nothing in such a scheme or understanding, as it may be regarded, except a prostitution of the nobler considerations to the greed of personal ambition.

"Governor Atkinson has not heretofore shown any very decided preference for the promotion of those who illustrated their country thirty years ago, and it is not sonable to suppose that he is very earnest or unselfish in desiring General Evans's success at this time.

"Those of his friends who are urging him for the senate and predicting General Evans a walkover for governor in the same connection, know that such an arrangement would be impossible of fulfillment, even if the governor were sincerely committed to its consummation.

"There is not a sane man in Georgia who elieves that Governor Atkinson would desert Bob Berner for his old competitor All thoughtful men see in this gauzy movement of the governor's boomers, an at-pt to chain the old confederate hero to wheels of the conquering pol tician, and if General Evans is too un suspecting to appreciate the sad spectacle which is being made of him, his old com rades should determine that they will not be made parties to the infamous design. "With all due deference to General Evans

as a man, it is generally known that he is a mere child in politics—else he would see that the only motive that could actuate hitherto political enemies in booming hi for governor at such a time, is to get him out of Atkinson's way for the senate. "If the general were not thoroughly without guile, he would see the hypocrisy of his newly evolved champions and present their overtures. "He knows, and everybody else knows, that he has no confidence in Governor Atkinson's political methods. Governor Atkinson knows it, and it is therefore cer tain that he will not hesitate to side-track General Evans again, especially when he can serve one with whom he has cultivated more intimate personal relations.

"But how General Evans can, directly or indirectly, be a party to such a thing as a political understanding with Governor Atkinson, by which he is to be a beneficiary, is past finding out to those who recall recent political history. It would be regarded by many of these as a piece of sacrilege in this honored survivor of a sacred cause to allow his friends to give further encouragement to the bare impression that such an arrangement would be aceptable to him. "The general has already done himself great injustice by permitting these rumors to go unchallenged, for in the event of Atkinson's election to the senate, should he ecome a candidate for governor, nothing that he could say would convince the puolie that he was not a willing party to an unholy compact by which confederate memories were debased and the interests of Georgia disregarded.

"The Commercial cares not for what others may say or do. It will never be silent while such deals are threatened, and it will never condone them by supporting a party to their unholy consummation-more especially if that party be a confederate hero. "General Evans cannot afford to remain silent under these circumstances. Let him repudiate the rumored deal by entering or the senate in answer to the desire of his best friends, or declare that under no circumstances will he be a candidate for governor. Any other course will invite upon

The Parting of the Ways.

From The Augusta Morning News. The political situation in this state grows nore complicated instead of clearing. In addition to the much-vexed senatorial succession, other unforeseen questions have risen in regard to the gubernatorial race, in view of the possibility of Governor Atkinson's being elected to the United States senate and vacating the gubernatorial chair. Of course, if the governor's race for the senate should prove unsuccessful, he will remain in his present position and serve out his term in the position to which the people have elected him. It is the prospective vacancy which may occur that is causing the rumpus.

The friends of General Evans have been very desirous of his making the race for enator. The idea of his candidacy for the senate has been well received in all parts of the state, both by the press and the people, for there can be no question of his great hold on the affections of the inhabitants of this state. Fearing his power, the Atkinson men have sought to get him out of the senatorial race, and in order to do so they have had resource to the old trick of the Trojan horse. They have promised him that in case of Atkinson's promotion to the senate he should have th position of governor. Only this and nothing more.

But just here is where the hitch comes in, and it shows the sort of silken, sad, containty of human calculations Colonel R. L. Berner, just elected president of the senate, says that in the event of a vacancy in the gubernatorial chair he is the logical necessor, and, of course, will be a candidate. So that there are two prospective candidates for the position with a possible vacancy. We have always entertained the highest regard for General Evans, which we have never hesitated to manifest in the most tangible way. We trust that all things will work to his advantage. Georgia owes him something for the way he risked his life for her during the war. She owes him an additional debt of gratitude for his devotion and faithful service to the party sub sequently. It has been his laudable ambition to serve his state in some high capacity as a slight recognition of the services of his dutiful son. The laurel is his. There are none worthier to wear it.

Not a Question of Dollars.

From The Macon News. The point has been raised on Governor Atkinson, improperly we are inclined to believe, that it will cost the state between forty and fifty thousand dollars to elect his successor in the event of his election to the United States senate. We do not mean to underestimate the importance of this heavy expense to the taxpayers of Georgia, but the mere matter of dollars and cent is not in itself sufficient reason against Governor Atkinson's candidacy. A government, state or national, is supposed to be able to defray the cost of election, no matter now often it becomes necessary to choose public servants.

But two points are involved in Governo Atkinson's candidacy, we think, and these are sufficient to call forth general condemnation of his present course. First, it places democracy a second time in jeopardy. Second, it elevates to the senate a man who, as shown by a recently administered rebuke, the people are not willing to accept. These are the reasons which can be urged against Governor Atkinson's candidacy, and we do not believe he and his allies can offset them with argument. The first point is admitted. Governor Atkinson's clevation to the senate will throw the party into another desperate struggle. Ordinarily, the necessity for this would cause no concern, but with our forces divided against them selves, with nearly half of our army unfit for service because of wounds which have never healed, with distrust, resentment and even mutiny to contend with, are we not clearly at a disadvantage? All conservative democrats recognize the lisadvantages which at present confront the party. They realize that another election, now or any time soon, involves a struggle more desperate even than the last -perhaps involves defeat.

A man more patriotic and less selfish than Governor Atkinson, a man of broader dimensions, of purer motives, of higher ideas, would promptly refuse to force his party into another fight under existing onditions, merely to serve his own political ambitions. The second point is not generally admit. ted, but, we think, all the evidence goes

We say the people do not want Governor Atkinson for their senator. A man with a hinner hide would see it for himself, but, strangely enough, Governor Atkinson's su-perb egotism causes him to construe his recent election into a personal tribute, when it was exactly the contrary. History does not show another candidate for that high office who ran 22,000 or any considerable necessary.' of the best governors Georgia ever had. The people love and do him honor, for he has true Georgian. Above all things, he is a man with a backbone, stands by the right and is loyal to his friends, and but for the great crisis which now seems imminent, should there be another election, The Times-Recorder believes Mr. Atkinson would have no material opposition for the senatorship, but that the great common people would unanimously crown his laud "But his candidacy now seems untimely take its medicine. Thousands of the best democrats in Georgia feel this way. The people, however, we think, have in dicated as forcibly as possible, just how they feel about it. They are to be allowed no voice in the selection of a senator, but the man who runs 22,000 behind his ticket cannot believe, unless his head is as thick as his hide, that they would make the mis-

number of votes behind his ticket. And yet

2,000 Georgia democrats refused to cast their vote for him, although he was the party nominee. Not less than 50,000 others, or considerably more than his majority, did

The People of Stewart County. om The Lumpkin Independent.

If the Georgia legislature ignores the wishes of the people as expressed, so far generally, throughout the state by the newspapers, there being exceptions of course, in reference to electing Governor Atkinson to the United States senate, it will result in disaster to the democratic party judging from the almost unanimous sentiment prevailing in this county. strongest supporters and most ardent admirers of Governor Atkinson in this county are bitterly opposed to his being elected to that position, because it would bring about another struggle over the governorship, and a feeling of apathy and indifference as to who his successor would be is a common expression, some going so far as to say that they would support a populist nomination. It would be exceedingly unwise and impolitic at this stage of political affairs for the legislature to force another gubernatorial election upon the people and precipitate another political conflict that might bring disaster and loss of prestige to fhe democratic party. And the repre sentative of this county who would in this instance disregard the expressed wishes of the people in this matter, would have small hopes for future preferments. Let the servants of the people respect the wishes of the people. Let no personal opinions or personal admiration for any one man govern them in antagonizing the open wishes of the people who honored them with their suffrage.

Two Ideas of Duty.

From The Brunswick Times-Advertiser. In the circular letter announcing his canlidacy for the senate, Governor Atkinson says: "During my public career I have shirked no duty to my party or my state.' The governor has a highly elastic sense of forgetfulness. During his recent campaign for governor he said-and reiterated on every stump from which he spokethat he was running for governor, not because he wanted the office, but because he deemed it his duty to his state and his party to serve another term as governor. ship then, what sudden change has made it the senatorship now? The Times-Advertiser is persuaded that

Mr. Atkinson's idea of duty is of a kind that clings to one obligation until three is something better in sight. All of which recalls the old fable about the greedy dog who, with a julcy bone in his mouth, caught sight of his reflection in the water, and in his eagerness for the other chimerical morsel, lost the real one of which he was already possessed. The analogy is obvious.

TIMES-RECORDER FOR HOWELL An Editorial, Ringing and Patriotic,

senator editorially as follows:

From Mrs. M. L. Myrick. Americus, Ga., November 2 .- (Special.)-The Times-Recorder tomorrow will indorse Cantain E P Howell for United States

"The Times Recorder has ever taught honest politics and straight democratic principles and the people of the third con pressional district have responded in a way that shows they appreciate its teachings. From prestige and principle we have stood for measures and not men. We have advocated from start to finish the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 at a time when it was not popular to take this side of the financial question, for the destiny of the white metal hung in the balance, both in the state and national mind. The Times-Recorder and The Atlanta Constitution led this fight for silver and whipped it in Georgia. "Again, when our own lamented and hor ored Crisp launched his senatorial candidacy and made the fight before the people n the memorable 6th of June primary Captain Evan P. Howell, with that matchless energy which characterizes him, fought the good fight for Crisp, battering down all opposition and inscribed victory upor Crisp's banner, which enabled the great statesman to withdraw from the clamor and turmoil of the political arena and lay down in peaceful sleep, feeling and know ing that no man, no set of men, no politicians, whether they be in office or out. could encompass his defeat.

"But the great and good Crisp has left, and the democratic party is confronted with a serious and a most responsible duty The legislature of Georgia will be called upon to name a man for United States senator. Five good men have offered fo this honor. Any one of these distinguished rentlemen, should he be elected, would reflect credit upon old Georgia. The Times-Recorder has the highest admiration for Hon. Hal Lewis, Governor W. Y. Atkinson Hon. A. S. Clay, Hon. J. W. Robertson and Captain Evan P. Howell, the avowed candidates for the senatorship.

Deplores a Gubernatorial Election. "We have the honor of knowing each of hese gentlemen personally and claim some of them to be our warmest friends, but this is a juncture when self-interests must be laid aside and when the good of the demo cratic party must alone be considered.

at this time we cannot dare not predict. The sentiment of thinking and patriotic people seems to be against it. The great struggle through which the democratic party has just passed deters sound judg ment from prolonging the agony, and the consensus of opinion as The Times-Recorder can gather it seems to be: 'Let well nough alone; have no more elections than by us next time, or we would refuse to Comes Out for Captain Howell. People of Sumter, men of the third ongressional district, what man is more capable than Colonel E. P. Howell? What man has done more for the cause of free hearts of the common people of the country? . What leader has led so gallantly the mocratic hosts of Georgia as the fearless editor of the most influential free silve paper in the south? What friend was ruer and closer to Crisp than Evan P. Howell? The mists and sorrows of the shadowy past will not permit sentiment to ontrol us now, therefore we cannot tell all Captain Howell has done. We are reminded that we must stand on the fence wait and see victory ahead, then jump in the band wagon.

"But no supposed self-interest shall o an deter The Times-Recorder from doing the right. The democratic party owes something to Captain Howell. His able services and eternal fidelity deserve recognition, and if every man in the state o Georgia should fling off on him tomorrow The Times-Recorder would stand by him, for he is a great and true democrat, and we love him for the enemies he has made and his great life-work for the democratic party.

'Again, Evan P. Howell has ever beer our loyal friend. He has been the friend of our section, and when the final roll is called and we stand in the presence of Him from whom no secrets can be kept oubtless many short-comings will be charged against us, but above all things we humbly pray for deliverance from the damnable crime of ingratitude.'

ALWAYS SUPPORTED ATKINSON. But Deprecates at This Time the Idea of Another Election. Covington, Ga., November 2 .-- (Special.)-The Covington Star, which appears tomorrow, will say:

"The Star is friendly to Governor Atkinson and has always been his supporter, but we deprecate the idea of holding another gubernatorial election at this time, and we know the people of Newton county are decidedly opposed to it. It would be exceedinly unfortunate for the democratic party to be forced into another gubernatoria contest at this time, just as we have emerged from one in which every faction and bitter element in the state were united and arrayed against the democracy. Personally we have no fight to make against the election of Governor Atkinson to the United States senate, and only oppose it because of the inexpediency of vacating the governor's office at this time. But there are other good men seeking the position, and it is hard to tell who will win. Captain Evan Howell is a candidate and is making a strong race. The democratic party owes him a big debt of gratitude for is services in the present car now is a good time to pay him. No one can deny that The Constitution's influence has been the great leading factor in the fight for free coinage and the cause of the people in the present campaign, and the claims of Captain Howell should receive due and proper recognition from our legislators in the selection of a senator.' Using Evans's Name. Hawkinsville, Ga., November 2 .- (Special.) There were two mass meetings in the coun y of Pulaski today, one at Cochran this orning and the other at the courtho The one in Cochran numbered sixty and th one in Hawkinsville about seventy-five. In each instance Governor Atkinson was in forsed for the senate, in the event of his elevation General Evans was called upo to make the race for governor. The Cochran meeting was harmonious, but considerable discussion and debate ensued be-fore the resolutions were adopted at the courthouse.

The country voting precincts open at 8 'clock and close at 3 o'clock. The last finishing touches of the cam paign have been made, the tally sheets have been delivered and the instructions to managers and voters have been posted at all of the voting places. Many copies of the registration lists have been made and these will be placed in the hands of the managers and clerks his morning. The total number registered is 12,592. The total colored registered vote is 1.850. In he country precincts it is expected that the total registered vote will be polled. "Every detail for the arrangement of the day's work has been completed," said Ordinary Calhoun yesterday afternoon, "and nothing remains to be done except vote. The tally sheets, containing several square feet of paper, are ruled and printed so there will be no extra work for the managers and clerks. The instructions to voters and managers are completed in every particular and there is no reason why the least confusion should prevail, either in the conduct of the polls or the count of the ballots.

"The indications are that the result will be easily counted, more so than in the last state and county election. In the country precincts the count will be known by sundown, and in the city wards the count will doubtless be finished in the majority of wards by midnight or earlier. ATLANTA, GA., November 3, 1896.

To Be Decided Today.

If greed, ignorance and mistaken patriotism shall be powerful enough today to place McKinley in the white house, it will be in the nature of a blow at American institutions; the people will have taken one more step, and a long one, in the direction of plutocratic government. We cannot believe they will take that step, but if they do, we cannot doubt that they will hasten to retrace it as soon as they realize more keenly than they have yet done the real results of it

More important than the economic issue is that larger question that underlies it-the question whether money, instead of intelligence and patriotism. is to rule; whether the people's government, controlled by the millionaire capitalists, is to degenerate into a plutocracy. and then fall into the hands of a dictator even more unscrupulous than the

From the beginning to the end of this campaign the tone of the republican press and the declarations of the republican orators have been a threat and a menace to the people. This has been such a marked feature of the campaign that The Springfield Republican and its Boston correspondent have repeatedly called attention to it and protested against it. The great mass of the people who have manifested sympathy for Bryan by applauding his eloquence and his earnestness, have been and repudiators. What is the logical conclusion to be drawn from this denunciation of the people by the organs of plutocracy? Why, that the anarchists and the revolutionists, if they succeed at the polls, are to be put down by the strong arm of the law or the stronger arm of the military.

If this is not the logical conclusion to be drawn from such denunciations, then Hanna's campaign is a meaningless one. To assault the people with epithets and threats is mere child's play if these things mean nothing. Are the plutocrats in earnest? Let us take the declarations of some of their special

2. General Henderson publicly declared that if the people made Bryan president an attempt to seat him would be met with armed resistance.

3. Bishop Worthington publicly declared that one of the great evils of our time was that the sons of American farmers were "educated above their condition." The implication here is that not only the sons of farmers. but the sons of all men who are not rich. have no right to be educated to the point where they become ambitious, or where they can understand the nature and spirit of republican institutions.

4. The Chicago Times-Herald, edited by Mr. Kohlsaat, one of the men who lifted the mortgage from McKinley's home, asks if universal suffrage is not a failure-if government by the people is not a mockery of government. 5. Theodore Roosevelt, a strong partisan of plutocracy, declared that men who support Bryan should be lined up against a wall and shot to death. Now, this is the spirit that animates the syndicate of plutocrats that has purchased the machinery of the republican party. This syndicate's agents have made no concealment of their desire to subvert republican institutions. They have proclaimed it from the housetops.

So it may be said that the voters of the country have been put on notice ture of the plutocratic programme. Consequently, it is only the most profound, the most inexcusable ignorance that The failure of Spain to quell the incan prevent any voter from knowing surrection in Cuba has satisfied the

what he is voting for today. A vote against Bryan means a vote in favor of a plutocracy. It means a vote in favor of the enemies of republican government. It means a vote against the right of the farmers and the common people to give their children a decent Understanding this, let every voter make deliberate choice of the party for which he will vote-let him make his record. Let him choose between government by the syndicates and government by the people.

Compare the revolutionary utterances of Hanna's campaign agents with those of Bryan and all others who have been advocating the cause of the common people. Not a word has dropped from the lips of any democratic speaker that is inconsistent with republican government and democratic principles. Every utterance made by the democratic speakers and newspapers has been a declaration in behalf of the principles instituted by Jefferson and Jackson in is the fate of this great kingdom which behalf of the struggling masses; in behalf of general prosperity, and in favor of the people.

Today, therefore, will decide whether the people are to make a future experiment with plutocratic government, or whether they are to return to the simple and safe methods of democracy.

A Great Leader.

Whatever may be the result of today's election, the fact will remain that the campaign has been the means of bringing to the attention of the American people the greatest leader they have had in thirty years.

He has made a memorable canvass. He has traveled thousands of miles since July, and has made hundreds of speeches in all sections. He has talked to all classes of people, and to all sorts of audiences; and yet, in all, the excitement. worry, flurry and confusion of the most strenuous campaign the country has witnessed since the war, every word that has dropped from his lips has been the right word. Every sentiment and suggestion has been appropriate to the time, place and the occasion. Where he found men at war with his views. he has won them; where he found them cold and upsympathetic, he has warmed them with the fire of his own ardor and enthusiasm. Every emergency has found him prepared to meet it, and he has been able to seize upon every event and circumstance and make it a part of his appeal to the people.

The people of this country have had leaders before, and able ones, but never in the history of the republic, with one exception, has an emergency called out a leader so thoroughly equipped, so earnest and so enthusiastic. That exception was Abraham Lincoln, and the points of comparison between the two men extend far below the surface. And vet we doubt if Abraham Lincoln would have been equal to the demand that has been made on the resources of Bryan's genius

In no other campaign have men beheld the spectacle of the common people surrounding and almost overwhelming a public speaker, not to hear his words, but to shake his hand, to touch nessed in many parts of the middle west, and it has been a source of wonder and surprise to the newspaper correspondents who accompanied the young

Today, therefore, if Bryan is elected. he will be more thoroughly the president of the people than any man who has occupied the executive chair in more than half a century. If he is defeated, he will still remain the greatest tribune and leader that the common people of the republic have ever had. And the campaign that he has begun will go on with ever-increasing energy and enthusiasm. He will rally to the standard of true democracy all who believe in popular government, all who believe in the dignity of labor, all who believe in the

And these elements, in the end, will prove to be invincible. All the money the plutocrats may command cannot corrupt them; all the arts the money power may invent cannot corrupt them. So we say to the honest voters of the land, be of good cheer. We believe the hour of their deliverance is at hand; but if not now, it cannot be long postponed. In the nature of things, a corrupt and plutocratic government cannot flourish in this land so long as the people are true to themselves.

The best thing for the masses of the populist party is to return to their former party affiliations. Their self-constituted leaders have betrayed them—sold them out or deserted them. Their party is crumbling into rulus. They have nothing upon which to base any hope for the future. If they want free silver, if they want good government, and it economically administered they should now join the democratic hosts and fight for its success. Now is the time to prove that they do really prefer principle to party.

TALK OF GEORGIA TOWNS.

There are few countles in the state that better farming lands or better farmers than Berrien. The crops produced this year are above the average, and peace and plenty reign everywhere. The im-provements in the farm dwellings are as narked for the better as are the advance in farming methods. Nice, comfortable frame dwellings have largely taken the place of log buildings of ten years ago, and their surroundings indicate increased good taste and appreciation of the beautiful. A few days at court after an absence from the county shows what great changes take place in a decade. The county is filling up with new people, and many old, familiar sights have been obliterated by the march

Nashville is one of the prettlest sites for a town in southwest Georgia. It is inhabchurch and school facilities and is steadily growing in population and commercial im portance. Unfortunately, it is not on a rail road, but its natural advantages, coupled with the enterprise of its citizens, enabl the town to not only hold its own, but steadily advance. This growth is the natu-ral result of the increase in the wealth of the country surrounding it.

We are building up our country at the expense of the gold using countries, just as China and Japan are learning to do without the aid of European countries. I was reading just before leaving home a special report made by a committee of Brit-ish merchants appointed to inquire into the causes of the decrease of British trade with China. The members of the commit-tee were the leading business men of Hong Kong. Mr. Lockhart, the colonial secretary, was at the head of the committee all agreeing that the retrograde movemen in British trade with China had been going on for several years. They named a long list of articles which China was importing ess than in former years: And what do you suppose that committee attributed as among the causes leading to England's loss of trade with the great empire?

where they could watch the returns, and after a joke or two they decided to stop off in Washington today and watch the returns as bulletined in front of the newspaper offices on the avenue. The thing that decided them to stop in Washington was this story told by a railroad man:
"I was in Washington four years ago when the national election occurred." said "With a friend I went out to watch bulletin boards. When good news the bulletin boards. came in, we went into a convenient bar and took a drink to celebrate. When bad news came, we went back and took a drink to we were so well braced that it made no difference to us whether the news was good or bad, or whether Cleveland or Harrison was elected.'

"One thing which gives me a great deal in Bryan's election is Hanna's claim that Missouri and Virginia are doubtful," said Dave Hale, of St. Louis, last night. Hanna might as well claim Georgia, too. McKinley has just as much chance of carrying it as he has of carrying Missouri. You read about the thoroughness of the republican campaign in the west. Let me tell you, the democrats have not been behind them in Missouri. In Bar-ton, Jefferson, Knox, Dent, Lincoln, and, in fact, every county in the state the demo crats have held rousing silver meetings. There were 20,000 people out at Lamar, Mo., one day last week: 3,000 men in a pa Mo., one day last week; 3,000 men in a parade with 700 of them on horses. At Hillsboro the other day the silver people fed 5,000 at a barbecue. St. Joseph had a tremendous parade which was six hours in passing. It was a common thing for local speakers to draw out a crowd of 5,000 at any time. The people are intensely inter ested and Missouri is a perfectly safe Bryan state, if there is one anywhere. Therefore when Mr. Hanna calls it doubtful and cool ly puts California, Indiana, Michigan North Carolina, Tennessee and West Vir ginia in the McKinley columns, I am con vinced that he is either badly mistaker about them or is bluffing all the way through. It is perfectly natural for politi cal workers to make rosy reports and I be lieve that the republicans have been de-ceived in this way. The democrats had no money to spend on workers throughout the country, and therefore their estimates have been guesses or averages. One side is as liable to be mistaken as the other, but I find them generally afraid that Hanna's money will prove too strong a temptation to the floating vote in some of the large states. Then if the result should happen to be close, watch the republicans, for they will try to steal some of those little western states." Mr. Ben Lewman, the contractor, is back from a trip to Kentucky and Indiana. He says the chances are strong in Bryan's favor for Indiana. Kentucky is all right. A few weeks ago he was quoted in this olumn on Illinois, where he is erecting a state university. At that time, he thought Bryan would carry Illinois. Now he is doubtful about it, though he says his opin-ion is based on what he has heard rather than on what he has actually observed in the state during the last few weeks. The republicans are betting that they will car-ry it by 50,000 majority, but they do not appreciate Altgeld's machinery for getting out the full democratic vote.

"That goldbug parade in New York Sat-urday was a disappointment to the repub-licans," said Captain J.A.Hodges, of Alabancans, said Captain J.A.Hodges, of Alaba-ma, as he was stretching his legs in the union passenger station yesterday. He had just stepped off the Southern's vestibule and was waiting for the New Orleans train o be made up.

"I saw that parade, or a part of it, for, of course, I did not wait for it all to go by. It was an immense procession. There is no doubt about that but it was one-third smaller than was expected and there was more enthusiasm for Bryan on the sidewalks than there was for McKinley in the parade. The workingmen did not turn out to march. A great many of them looked on and shouted for Bryan, though. Sev-eral thousand of the paraders came over from Brooklyn and from other towns. The Hannaltes expected 50,000 laboring people to swell their crowd, but the workingmen didn't participate, as I just said. Instead of 125,000 marchers, they had only 75,000 in line and 15,000 of these were boys under age. Broadway and Fifth avenue were elaborately decorated with bunting, but for every flag with McKinley's portrait on it, there were four without it. As an enthusiastic and convincing demonstration, the McKin and convincing demonstration, the McKin-ley parade was a frost. There are people who expect a heavy democratic vote in western and interior New York, but I do not see any chance for the democrats to carry anything except an occasional interior county and some city wards.

Press: The election of Mr. Bryan seems sure. He has impresse the people with his courage and interrity But if greed and cunning should defeating the people will at least have seen thibited the greatest heroism and sense of justice of the generation.

Nashville Sun: The great political campaign of 1896 is nearing its climar. But one more day remains, and that will be given to a rounding up by both paries. Then will come the battle of the ballots. The Sun has no doubt on earth about the result. Bryan will sweep the nation. The vote he will receive will astoffish conservative democrats and paralyze republicans.

Arkansas Gazette: The people are determined to regain their former happiness and prosperity, and they will do this by electing Mr. Bryan to the presidency. He has pledged himself to institute the reforms that the people demand, and there is little doubt that, despite the immense amount of money and the tremendous influence at the command of the Rothschilds and their allies, he will be elected.

St. Louis Republic: The only serie problem confronting the American people is that of restoring justice to the laws abolishing all special privileges by whone citizen or set of citizens is given a vantage over another in business. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Opposed To Another Election. Editor Constitution—Will the legislature recipitate another gubernatorial election? This is a question that the entire sta Georgia is immediately interested in legislature of any state is presumed to an intelligent, representative body of a selected to make such laws as are conselected to make such laws as are conducive to the best interest and welfare of the people, and on all questions where they are called upon to decide it is presumed that they will be most careful in the consideration of any question in which the interest and welfare of the people are directly concerned. The people are at a loss to understand why the legislature would even consider the election of Governor Atkinson to the senate, in that it would involve the state in another and an unnecessary conflict and cost the tax-payers of Georgia many thousands of dollars that is wholly uncalled for.

If the members of the legislature consult their constituents, they will readily see that the great majority of the people are very much opposed to another election, or constructure, they will readily see that the great majority of the people are very much opposed to another election, with the fact that they war responsible for such irregularities staffigthem in the face, that defeat is inevitable and their political doom sealed.

The people, for a number of years, have been tired of so many elections, and now that we have just had a taste of the consolidation of elections, we cannot afford to force upon a conservative people more than it is natural for them to endure. The extent of the opposition to another election will not be known until it is felt.

For Robertson.

Editor Constitution—As there is a great deal of uncertainty and speculation as to who will take the place of our beloved and greatly lamented Crisp in the next senate, I desire to say a few words in comendation of our beloved and honored citizen, Colonel James W. Robertson, What I say is only the voice of northeast Georgies Colonel Robertson, bear done more in say is only the voice of increases in the last twenty years for the democratic party than almost any other man in the state. There is no doubt but that he is the best fitted man for the place on account of his knowledge of all the great questions that are now before us, and which will require the greatest ability and statemanship to wrestle with. Colonel Robertson is one of the most eloquent, broad-minded and deep thinkers of this day. There is not a better man for the place. Our general assembly should remember that they amajority of them—hold their present offices by the voice of the poorer, or working, class, who are the friends of Colonel Robertson. He is the best friend the laborer has. He is always ready to assist the needy and help him on the road to prosperity and happiness. If he is elected, all Georgia will be proud of her senator, and the people will be proud of him and his record.

d work done at the polls. While, of course, Colonel Livingston fuly expects to be returned to congress, still, urges all democrats to go out today and their ballots for the straight ticket, hat the populist-republican combination may be overwhelmingly defeated.

Colonel Livingston candidly admits that the fight is a close one and he says that mless the democrats vote there is danger of his defeat on account of the money ent by the opposition and the unholy fusion agreement made against the demo cratic party. He said yesterday:

"You may tell the people that if I am to be returned to congress they will have to come out tomorrow and cast their balbis, because the opposition has had plenty of money to spend against my candidacy and the fusionists are exerting every ef-fert to send a gold republican to congress. Meney has been sent here from outside and it has been put where it will injure my canvass considerably.

They have done valiant work for the democratic nominee and say that the vote of the people today is certain to go for the congressman. The workers have planned the campaign work for today and everything is in readiness to bring out a full vote.

Yesterday a handsome Livingston banher was placed in the Kimball bearing Bryan's famous Chicago convention "Cross of Gold" sentence and it attracted much attention during the day. The banner is a

How Atlantians Spent the Day Preceding the Great Election.

POLITICIANS OFF FOR HOME

Legislators Leave To Vote at Their Homes Today.

MANY ESTIMATES OF RESULT WERE MADE Betting Was Light, and Even Bryan Money Went Begging for Takers. Some Strange Bets.

Atlanta wore an expectant look yester-Even the presence of a circus failed to drive away the air of expectancy and uncertainty. Will it be McKinley or will ft be Bryan?

Ten thousand times the question was asked here yesterday. There was no escape. Everywhere was the continued political dingdong.

The politicians who have been quartered n Atlanta for the last two weeks scattered to their homes for the purpose of voting. The corridors of the Kimball, where the seething mass has been struggling had a quiet and serene appearance during the whole day. The headquarters of sev eral candidates for the United States senate were locked and barred. Every one had fled to his native heath to be ready for the great battle today.

On the streets the nervous strain was apparent. It was the day for the bill collector to thrive, but he made no progess, for he was faced with the continued stand-off: "Wait until Wednesday." Gathered on the street corners, in the clubs and in the hotel corridors last night were groups of excited men making estimates ipon the result of today.

Will it be McKinley or Bryan? How will Illinois go? Don't you think Hanna is putting up a big bluff when he sticks Tennessee in the McKinley column? Is Michigan for Bryan? How will the Dakotas go? What will be the majority in New York state for McKinley? What of the result in North Carolina?" These and a thousand other questions of a similar character were discussed yesterday afternoon and last night. No one was certain, but the fact was apparent that the McKinley men, who up to this time have been wearing an air of assured confidence and braggart defiance, had weakened and were hanging all around. Up to a week ago McKinley money went begging in Atlanta. It was flaunted in the face of the Bryanites and shoved under their noses with almost impudent scorn. In many cases big odds were given and money placed.

But something has dropped. It was dificult yesteri'ay to get even money on McKinley. Those who wished to risk a little of the free and unlimited were mystified by the conflicting statements sent out by the two chairmen. Those who had backed McKinley wonlered why such states as Tennessee and Nevada were placed in the column of the man from Canton. It looked to them that Hanna was playing a bold bluff game; that he was not assured of making out the sufficient majority and had to pad up with states that were sure to fall for Bryan. The muddled condition of the table of the manager of McKinley made the upporters of that faith very uneasy indeed, and they wore a look of intense dejection. There was a herculean effort on the part of the gold men to brace up last night, but that it was an effort was plain. Their lack of confidence was apparent everywhere.

They Claimed Georgia.

The absurdity of the claims of the Mc-Kinley men was easily seen last night when a crowd of them in the Kimball house made the assertion that the state of Georgia would so for Hanna's man. "I look for Georgia to go over to Mc-Kinley," said one of the most enthusiastic McKinley men. "I believe that Fulton county and the entire state will give our man the majority. I am positive that he will go in all over the country and you can look for a landslide. I believe that Mc-Kinley will carry Tennessee and Virginia. No one can tell how Georgia will go, but I believe that she will fall in the McKinley column." With such estimates as these the republicans have fanned up their hopes. They are counting upon states which are acknowledged by the most conservative lead-

Waiting for the Result. Never has the interest in a presidential election been greater. Never have the people been stirred to such a pitch of excitement. In Atlanta, especially, the people are at a high tension in anticipation of the result. The members of the Mc-Kinley Club state that they count upon Fulton county. A member of the McKinley Club was standing last night on the corner of Broad and Marietta streets. "I believe," he said, "that this county will go for McKinley." "For how much do you believe it?" asked a street car conductor standing near. "Anything you say."

"Well, here's $25; that's all I've got on ne now. I've got a bigger wad at home and if you'll wait I'll get that." The bet was made and when the result omes in tonight the street car conductor will be $25 in. Took Him Up Quickly. "Dick Murphy was talking to a crowd at the Kimball last night. "Bryan will have fifteen more than is necessary to elect." he said.

"Fifteen nit," said a Baltimore drummer. "What's the price?" said Murphy. "Make it ten," said the drummer, and the money was up in an instant. Generally speaking, however, there was little betting on the result last night. In former presidential elections stake money has been plentiful and there was no trouble to find takers, but for some reason were wary yesterday and those who had bet were "hedging." Just what the result will be today no one can declare definitely, but the trend cenopinion about Atlanta that his election is assured.

Daring Highwayman and His Work Last Night.

ROBBED ON PASSENGER TRAIN

T. M. Zellers, of Grantville, Lost His Cash.

HIS COMPANIONS WERE ALL STUPEFIED Negro Shoved a Pistol Under His Nose and Walked Off With a Good Pile.

A highway robbery, unparalleled for its boldness in the history of this city, was reported to the authorities last night. T. M. Zellers, a young man twenty years of age, who lives in Grantville, Ga., was held up and robbed on an Atlanta and West Point train not twenty yards from the Whitehall street crossing. There were twelve witnesses to the rob pery. It seems that everybody was stupefied rom amazement and no one offered to help the young man, who was stubbornly gazing into the depths of a 44 Colts revolver while its owner was hastily exploring the contents of his pockets.

Zellers lost $25 in currency and some change in silver. He had his purse in his nside cout pocket, which, fortunately for him, the robber overlooked. The outlaw was a negro with Herculean strength. He nad on a wide slouch hat, which was pulled down over his eyes, and it was imossible to see his face.

Zellers came to this city yesterday mornng on an excursion train from his home in Grantville. A large crowd came up to take in the circus and the train was to leave at 5:30 o'clock p. m. Zellers was detained or mportant business and as he turned into Wall street from Peachtree the train was directly in front of him going out over the Whitehall street crossing.

The young man got on the third coach which was occupied by a motley crowd of negroes. "Hold Up Your Hands!"

As the train turned the curve under the Broad street bridge Zellers walked through the coach he had boarded, intending to proceed to the car of the whites. As he opened the door and stepped out on the platform some one hailed him from behind. He turned, stazed into the depths of a revolver and heard a stern voice ordering him to throw up his hands. Several men were standing on the same platform, but the most of them jumped off the train and the others were speechless from fright.

Zellers obeyed the command and his hands went high in the air. Still holding the pistol in the young man's face, the negro deliberately searched his pockets and took all the money he had. He did not touch Zeller's watch. Thinking he had probably secured all the booty his victim possessed, the robber backed into the car from which he had came and walked hastily toward the front through the rear coaches and the excite ment was intense. A crowd, headed by Zellers, rushed to where the robbery had been committed, but the men standing on the platform stated that the negro had ed off the train and had disappeared ander Forsyth street bridge.

He has not been seen since.

Zellers Notifies the Police. Zellers would not go on to his home last night, but got off the train, prompted by the vain hope of catching the outlaw. He wended his way to the station house the detective department. A good descrip tion of the negro was left at headquarters and it is probable he will be caught before night. Zellers offers a big reward for his arrest. A BOLD DAYLIGHT BURGLARY. Thieves Enter and Loot a Residence

in West End. Another remarkably bold daylight burglary was reported to the authorities yes terday. The residence of Mr. Louis Cook at the corner of Railroad avenue and Gor don street, in West End, was entered about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and a lot of valuable household goods stolen. The burglary was committed while the family were enjoying the sights of the circus. Instead of forcing the rear doors or windows of the house as is their custom the front door by breaking the large pane of colored glass and crawling into the hole. They did their work directly in sight of the street and adjoining houses, but they were not detected.

Almost every room in the house was looted. Drawers were opened and the consacked with the same result, and after they had finished the house looked as if whirlwind had struck it. The thiev

Decisions Rendered Monday, November 2, 1896.

REPORTED FOR THIS PAPER

By Peeples and Stevens, Reporters of the Supreme Court of the State of Georgia.

Merchants' National Bank of Rome v. Warlick. Before Judge Harris. City court of Floyd county. Atkinson, J.-No new question of law is presented: the evidence fully warranted the verdict, and there was no error at the trial.

Judgment affirmed. Reese & Denny, for plaintiff in error. Hoskinson & Harris and Dean & Dean,

Ransom v. Wardlaw & Co. Before Judge
Turnbull. Walker superior court.
Simmons, C. J.—I. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York v. VanDyke. Before Judge Harris. City court of Floyd county.

Atkinson, J.—Where one, not a party to a promissory note, by a writing indorsed thereon and signed by himself undertakes to pay a portion of the principal sum due thereon, and is sued upon his contract so expressed, and it appears from the declaration of the action, had paid upon the note a sum in excess of the amount stated in such writing; it will, in the absence of an allegation fhat such sum was paid before, be presumed that it was paid after such undertaking; and a demurrer to the declaration upon the ground that the defendant was discharged by such payment, and that therefore as against him the declaration stated no cause of action. Was properly sustained.

Howell et al. v. Kinney et al. Before Judge Janes. Floyd superior court. Lumpkin, J.—l. While the determination by an ordinary, or board of county compissioners, in proceedings to change militia district lines, cannot be directly reviewed by certiorari or otherwise, it is within the power of the superior court, or of this court, if such proceedings, or the final action thereon, be for any reason void, to so declare, when the question of their validity is properly presented for adjudication.

2. A petition for a change in the line between two militia districts should distinctly specify the location of the new line desired, and the commissioners appointed under section 484 of the code should, if they deem such change necessary and expedient, "lay out and define" the new line, and, in their report, so describe the same that its location may be readily ascertained.

3. The law does not contemplate that in proceedings to change a line between two militia districts, an isolated portion of the territory of one of them, not contiguous to the other, should be transferred to the latter; nor that, as a result of a given change in lines, two portions of a district should be left entirely segregated from each other.

I. Inasmuch as none of the alleged changes in the lines of the militia districts involved in this case were legally made, and the petitioners' right to an injunction necessarily depended upon the validity of such changes, it was error to grant the injunction. In order to render the lien of an attorney at law upon property recovered by him in behalf of his client or upon property the title to which in a suit therefor he has successfully defended, binding upon bona fide purchasers of such property, it is incumbent upon the attorney to file, as provided in section 1980 of the code, his assertion claiming a lien on the property in question, but such filling is not essential to the validity of the lien as between the attorney and his client, or as between him and other creditors of the latter.

2. An attorney's lien may, as against the liens of other creditors, be enforced against a portion of the property covered thereby and satisfied out of its proceeds, although he has permitted other portions of such property to be sold under executions not his own, without asserting his lien or claiming the proceeds of the sales; and this is true, although the other creditors could not have subjected the property thus sold to their liens, it not appearing that they took any steps to compel an election by him to make his money out of the property which he could reach and they could not.

Key West, Fla., November 2.—Colonel J. M. Ortega, Major A. Cuspelre and Lieutenants Garcia and Felix Rios, special com missioners from General Gomez to the Cuban junta in the United States, arrived in this city this morning on the schoone

Irena from Nassau. They are thirteen days out from the camp of General Gomez, having left Cuba on the night of the 20th ultimo in a small boat and landed at Nassau several days later, when they took passage on the schooner Irene to this city. They state that Generals Serafin Sanchez and Calletto Garcha are with General Gomez, who has 14,000 men. They report that General Rabbi has joined Gomez with 3,000 Spanish troops, and are all well and in the best of spirits and confident of ultimate success. They leave tomorrow via the east coast for New York.

GENERAL WEATHER FORECAST. Conditions That Indicate Storms in

Doubtful States. Washington, November 2.-The meteoro logical forecasters are most uncertain about the condition which will prevail in the doubtful states of the middle west to morrow. Recognizing the great importance upon the election results of snow storm, sunshine and good roads, special efforts have been made by the weather bureau to foretell accurately these conditions.

The ominous low central over Iowa causes concern. It is concededly, however, not as

Mrs. Josephine Polhill, of Due West, S. C., had a severe case of catarrh, which finally became so deep-seated that she was entirely deaf in one ear, and part of the bone in her nose sloughed off. The best physicians treated her in vain, and she used various applications of CURED BY sprays and CURED BY washes to no avail. Fourteen bottles of S. S. S. various appli-

Guaranteed pureduress Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga. from reaching the polls, however distant, for in those sections the roads are in their best possible condition and are sure to remain so for several days at least.

The mountain states are also dry, but the western slope of the Mississippi valley has been thoroughly soaked within the last three or four days and even in Kansas and Nebraska teaming is so heavy that another general shower would make many poor roads almost impassable. The stay-at-home state of affairs is worse in Oregon and Washington than anywhere else in the union. There is pretty sure to be rain and perhaps snow or hail in northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and showers not of sufficient intensity to deter ardent voters are feared for Michigan.

NEGROES SHOT IN ALABAMA. Two Men Killed and Two Wounded Where They Were Not Wanted.

Montgomery, Ala., November 2.-A special to The Advertiser from Evergreen brings the intelligence of the shooting of four negroes in Monroe county, this state. Some white people in the neighborhood objected to the negroes coming to that settlement. Last Friday night the negroes were sitting by a pineknot fire on the premises of their employer, when the asassins crept up under cover of darkness and fired a volley from shotguns. Two of the negroes are dead, another mortally wounded and the fifth will lose an

SENTENCE PASSED BY JUDGE

Prisoner Apparently Unconcerned While Listening to the Words Which Measured His Life.

Talbotton, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—For the second time Dr. W. L. Ryder, slayer of Miss Sallic Emma Owen, was sentenced to death, November 24th being fixed as the day for the execution. When Ryder was convicted of Murder Judge Butt, by mistake, fixed January 15th as the day for

The law provides that an execution shall occur within sixty days after the sentencing, and so when the error was discovered it became necessary to resentence Dr.

Dr. Ryder wes vesterday brought to Talbotton from the Muscogee jall, where he has been confined. The resentencing oc-curred at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The attorneys present were Thornton, Carson and Bull, for the defense, and Martin and McGehee, for the prosecution, J. H. Worrill's absence was one of the reasons the attorneys for the defense moved for a continuance. The defense also claimed that there was no law for the calling of that there was no law for the calling of the special term of the court under the cir-cumstances. The entire proceedings did not last more than three-quarters of an hour. A crowd of spectators was present, but there was no visible excitement. The town was quiet throughout Dr. Ryder's During the proceedings Dr. Ryder sat with a vacant look on his face. His fingers were occupied in tearing to shreds little bits of paper, which he picked up, and his deeanor was one of vacant unconcern and

Two ballins led Dr. Ryder up before Judge Butt and sentence of death was passed upon him. It was difficult for the judge to hold Ryder's attention during the formality of sentencing.

Judge Butt and attorneys went back to Columbus today. Dr Ryder was carried over by Deputy Sheriff Ledsinger, of Mus-cogee county, and placed in the Columbus jail again. The motion for a new trial in his case will be argued on the 7th.

PLANTER KILLED WITH AN AX. Bloodhounds Chasing the Negro Who Murdered and Robbed T. C. Perrin.

Augusta, Ga., November 2.-A special to The Chronicle from Greenwood, S. C., says that T. C. Perrin, living two miles from Bradley, was murdered and robbed by negroes this afternoon. He had just returned from Bradley, where he sold his cotton The weapon used was an ax. Bloodhounds have been sent for, and if caught the murderer will meet speedy death.

bus this afternoon. F. J. Kohn, wholesale grocer and candy manufacturer, was closed, Sheriff Bowles foreclosing a mortgage of $3,200 in favor of the Third National bank. The Columbus Cash Company's store, a dry goods estab-lishment, was closed to satisfy a mort-gage of $850, held by the Fourth National bank of this city, and one of $3,900 in fa-vor of Carrie Adler, of Atlanta. Mr. Moses says that his fallure was caused by Moses says that his failure was caused by the duliness due to the election and by the local hard times in Columbus caused by the Eagle and Phenix mills remaining idle several weeks.

Cleveland's Way.

From The Dublin Courler. Mr. Cleveland showed how he appreclated Georgia's great statesman by keeping perfectly silent, while almost every other leading man in all the land, including exfamily telegrams of condolence for their great loss. Grover Cleveland's name should be sunk into everlasting oblivion as soon is the country gets rid of him as president.

The Pine Forests Disappearing. From The Tifton Gazette. One serious loss to the country is the wholesale destruction of her magnificent pine forests, the richest legacy one generation could leave another. At the present rate it will not be many years before a "lot" of "round" timber will be spoken of in the past tense. It is time this subject was being seriously considered. Forests have atmospheric influences most beneficial to man, while lack of them invites disaster difficult to measure.

of the public by sustaining practical and honorable methods. The average span of life allotted to specialists who advertise their services is from one to two years, and with the average case, newspaper advertising only serves to bring out the imperfections of the advertiser. The people have been so often disappointed that they have inclined to suspect bad faith on the part of the advertiser. This rule, however, does not apply to Dr. Hathaway & Co. Old residents who observe the patients daily going to the office of these specialists, recall the fact that they saw the same thing six years ago. It is thoroughly understood that the doctors have adopted skillful and honorable methods for the treatment of the sick; that they fulfill all their promises, and that they find it easy to sustain a reputation made years ago. This explains why public confidence in Dr. Hathaway & Co. seems permanent and unchangeable, while others flourish bravely for a little while and are then seen no more. That these physicians are highly successful is seen by the fact of the many cures perfected of aliments which in many cases were pronounced incurable by reputable physicians. In many instances through gratitude for the physicians and desire to ald their fellow sufferers, these cured patients publicly recommend these expert specialists.

Report of the Special Commissioners and Judge's Order Filed in the United States Court.

An order was filed in the United States court yesterday withdrawing the Marietta North Georgia railroad property from the hands of the two receivers, Messrs. J. B. Glover and E. C. Spalding, and placing under control of the purchasers of the operty, the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Construction Company.

Judge Newman signed the order on Satarday, but it was not filed until yesterday. The check for the final payment was received until yesterday, though notice that it had been sent from New York had been received. As soon as the payment for October 3ist was received. Clerk O. C. Fuller, of the United States court, filed the order which formally removed the court receivers from control of the property.

report of the special commissioners who sold the property is as follows: "In the United States Circuit Court for the Northern District of Georgia. Central Trust Company et al. vs. Marietta and North Georgia Railway Co. et al. Con-solidated Causes. In Equity 507.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many phystransient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual discase, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its bene-ficial effects, to note when you pur-chase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all rep-utable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxaves or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well include the property of the propert the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction

GO RECEIVERS CIRCUS DELIGHTS ALL SORTS AND CONDITIONS OF ATLANTA PEOPLE

Typical Circus Crowds Line the Sidewalks and Hem in Traffic While They See the Big Parade.

Yesterday was a great day for the Atlanta small boy and the rural visitor from the country round-about. The big aus parade of Ringling Brothers drew thousands to the city from out of town, and of course the citizens of Atlanta turned out in full force to watch the brilliant pageant,

The usual circus crowd was on hand, he usual scenes, the usual fights, the usual excuses of the old man: "I go to take Willie;" the usual sneaking in the tent and the subsequent ejection therefrom, the usual lemonade with its rosy hue, the peanuts, the toy balloons-everything, in fact, that goes to make up a real, old time circus.

It was a fine parade-a typical old-time circus procession, with the gilded and richly ornate band wagon, drawn by eight white horses, and ending with the steam calliope. The big elephant was on hand in all his bulky majesty, and four little baby elephants with their mammas, nearly as big as the old fellow who leads the elephantine crowd, received lots of attention. There were sixteen fairly large elephants and one that was only a few months old The other baby elephants were not half as popular as the tiny baby. Many compared the smallest baby with the larger sixteen and called attention to the coincidence as a good omen for the supporters of a 16 to 1 silver policy in the national election today.

The parade was a large one, consisting of sixty sections. The feature of the parade was the character of the splendid horses. A finer lot has never been seen in Georgia. Most of them were sixteen hand high and almost white, splendid Ill light grays.

Following the first band wagon came three animal cages, each drawn by four splendid iron grays. Then the snake charmer, with the slimy reptiles twisting around her feet. The new woman, riding astraddle in bloomers, was the next feature. She drove a beautiful horse in front of the one she was riding, tandem fashion. The horse which she rode was dark, with large streaks of white around his shoulders and haunches. The one in front of her was the prettiest horse in the parade.

Following this up-to-date horsewoman came four animal cages, each drawn by very light gray horses, almost white. The second band wagon, drawn by six glossy, handsome blacks, followed. Then came the cavaliers on horseback, shining in costumes of gold, red and white.

The first open cage contained two lionesses and two cubs. Then came two hyenas, then two wild cats, then four black bears, then two leopards, then two jaguars, then two magnificent tigers, two large lions and a lioness. Drawn by six ron grays came the huge hippopotamus. Its keeper kept the crowd amused by throwing peanuts down its massive throat. Then came the cowboys, riding fine hors-

A few animal cages followed and then the tableau wagons passed. First was Columbia, escorted by soldiers in the colonial uniform; then came the king of the carnival, with his royal crown of pasteboard. Two horsemen followed, riding beside a wooden St. George and the Dragon to prevent damage. Eight clossal animal cages separated St. George from the next wooden tableau figures, which represented Little Red Riding Hood, Jack the Giant Killer, Robinson Crusoe, and the Brownies, half of whom were Equestriennes, accompanied by lockeys. In their loose satin skirts came next, and excited the admiration of the crowd. The excited the admiration of the crowd. SUIT WAS FILED FOR DAMAGES. Ringling Brothers Settle a Claim for Personal Damages.

While the circus band was playing yesterday and the gayly colored banners were floating to the breeze, the managers of the canvased caravan were busily engaged in compromising a damage suit that came from Birmingham, where the show was given prior to its arrival in Atlanta.

Mr. John Brown and his wife, Mrs. Mary Anne Brown, claimed that they had been seriously injured by being run down and trampled under the feet of a pair of horses belonging to Ringling Brothers. They Personal Damages. tramped under the feet of a part of the belonging to Ringling Brothers. They claimed the accident occurred in Birmingham as they were leaving the show grounds, and the suit was brought for $4,000 damages.

The claim was placed in the hands of Atlanta attorneys yesterday morning, and, after a conference with Ringling Brothers, the suit was satisfactorily compromised by a payment being made the plaintiffs.

by a payment being made the plaintiffs.

"We knew nothing of the accident before leaving Birmingham," said Mr. Ringling last night, "or we would have settled the claim at once. When the papers were served on us yesterday we made immediate investigation, and finding that the claim was just and correct, settled the matter by a payment sufficient to cover all the damages alleged.

"The entire matter was promptly settled, "The entire matter was promptly settled, and is satisfactory to both parties. Our only regret is that we were not apprised of the accident earlier, as we make it a rule to never leave a city with anything standing against us. The accident probably occurred in the excitement caused by the crowd as it left the tent." PARDON GIVEN TO TWO.

Governor Extends Clemency to Father and Son ir the Pen.

Among the first official acts of Governo Atkinson since his inauguration as gov ernor of Georgia was to pardon two men, father and son, who were sent to the penitentiary on the charge of assault with intent to kill. The men pardoned were Lindsay and Ed Granger, who were convicted at the October term of the Rockdale superior court on the charge of assault with in-tent to murder and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

In the application for pardon it is shown that the man assaulted had forcibly entered a mill belonging to the men convicted, and that their assault was partially justifiable. The jury which found them guilty and many citizens of that county urged their pardon, and on these grounds he pardon was granted.

John Callaway, who was convicted at the May term of the Fulton superior court of the charge of shooting at another, and sentenced to twelve months in the chain gang, had his sentence commuted to six months by the governor. In the applica-tion it was shown that the boy had up to the time of the difficulty borne a good character, and the commutation was urged by prominent citizens.

After discussion the proposed amendmen was changed so as to provide for three yearly payments of taxes. Councilman Cul-berson offered an amendment requesting the legislature to amend the charter so that taxes shall be paid on April 15th. July 1st and October 1st. He offered the fol-lowing, which was adopted by the council: "By Councilman Culberson-To amend the section in reference to collection of taxes by making them payable in three installments: the first, which is one-quarter of the year's taxes, payable April 15th; the second quarter to be payable July 1st, and the third, which is half the full amount of the year's taxes, payable October 1st, with street tax payable with second pay ment and all penalties as provided in bill

Mr. Inman opposed the proposed change, stating that plenty of good men could be found who would serve on the boards without salary. He said that the change

Mr. Inman and Mr. Miller opposed the adoption of the resolution, stating that salaries ought not to be increased and that it would be unwise to put it in the hands of members of the council to pay big salaries to themselves and to members of the several boards.

The resolution offered by Mr. Woodward was finally adopted by the following vote:

Civil Service Police Question.

A communication from the board of police commissioners was read, asking that the council request the legislature to amend the city charter so as to provide for the establishment of a civil service police system in Atlanta.

The communication brought up the old issues in connection with the police department. Councilman Day said that the civil service movement might be an effort to put men in office for life who would be chosen by partisan members of the board of police commissioners. He said that the system might put a ring in control of the police department.

Alderman Dimmock said that civil service would be a good thing in the police department and he favored the approval of the request of the police board.

The rules were suspended and Mr. H. C. Stockdell, a member of the police board, said that he hoped the council would grant the request of the board. He said that it was not the intention of the board to put the police department into politics, but to get the department out of politics.

understand that the greater activity and increased strength-shown by Pacific last week was due in part to reports made by General Manager Clark, who has been in the city and discussed the outlook for the property with various in-terests. Mr. Clark takes the ground that the corner in railway affairs in his section appears to have been turned. He argues this from the crops, the better prices, the probability of better rates and the general revival of business growing out of a sound money victory. Some of the prominent inin Missouri Pacific have told friends within a day or two that as evidences of improvement in the situation became clear they thought the stock would improve its position, and that it would sell nearer than at present to the group of stocks with which it was formerly associated in price.

Paine-Murphy Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, November 2.—Prices advanced today on general buying in anticipation of an active and higher market after the election. Shorts deemed it advisable to cover, and Liverpool and the south also bought moderately, while the advance in Liverpool, an active business on spot there, better Manchester advices and heaviness of the exports from the ports also contributed to strengthen the tone. Before the close part of the improvement was lost on realizing sales. The market closing steady at a net advance of 3 to 4 points with sales of 166,500. The stot markets in this country were generally firmer. In New Orleans December advanced 3 points, but lost it. Liverpool was unchanged on the spot with sales of 15,000 bales. Futures there advanced ½ to 1½ points. The port receipts were 56,966 bales, against 11,430 thus far last week. Augusta received today 2,121. Paine-Murphy Co.'s Cotton Letter. far this week 106,359, against 114,840 thus far last week. Hubbard Bios. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, November 2.—Our market has practically represented the efforts of merchants not only here, but in the south, to put their affairs in such shape as to have the smallest risk possible over the election. Any intelligent discussion of the situation from a cotton standpoint is impossible under these circumstances. The movement of the crop shows a falling off from last week and Lancashire is evidently disposed to regard present prices as not high for the immediate future. It is apparent that the holders of cotton are not alarmed over the relatively large movement this season compared with last year, as they regard the movement in November, 1895, as a phenomenal one, and to be no indication of the ultimate yield. The market displayed great nervousness toward the close and merchants were indisposed to engage in any new enterprises until Wednesday. Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, November 2.—(Special.)—Today's session of the cotton exchange was dominated by political expectations and considerations, and comparatively little attethion was paid to the rather disappointing Liverpool advices and to the heavy port receipts. The closing of trades before the election was the order of the day, and as many people have been selling short during the recent advance, there was more anxiety to buy than to sell, and prices were higher. January opened at 8.11, advanced to 8.20, reacted to 8.12 and closed at 8.15@8.16 with the tone steady. After the election it is hoped there will be a revival of confidence and of the speculative spirit and the tendency of prices will prob-ably be upward, but in the near future the market will be ruled in large degree by the volume of the receipts.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, November 2.—Cotton here advanced 1-16c. Liverpool was unchanged on the spot with sales of 15,000 bales. Futures there advanced ½ ½ 1½ points. The port receipts were 56,966 bales. Exports approximated 67,000 bales. Futures here advanced 3 to 9 points, but reacted, closing steady at a net advance of 3 to 4 points, with sales of 166,500 bales.

Sentiment was the principal factor in the speculation today, and as the sentiment was bullish, prices advanced. The buying was general in anticipation of an active and higher market in the event of McKinley's election. Falf River advices were cheerful; Manchester sent favorable reports; Liverpool was higher with a good demand for spot cotton: shorts covered; the exports from the ports were heavy and generally higher; spot markets in this country contributed to strengthen the tone. Part of the improvement was lost before the close on realizing sales, but the tone of the market was firm. Silver declined ½ chere.

The Dry Goods Market.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, November 2.—The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletins, in its review of the week of the dry goods market, says the influences which have governed business for so long have been felt during the past week in an intensified degree. Ante-election week is always a dul one, but last week was pronouncedly so. Buyers who have followed severely a hand-to-mouth policy under the strain of the political situation saw no cause on the eve of election to abandon it. They have, in fact, curtailed purchases to an excessive degree. Their most pressing requirements have had attention, but rarely anything beyond that. In the woolen goods division a slow business and dull tone have been the features, but here, too, prices are steady.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Was Not Active, but Scored an Advance of 2 1-4 Cents.

Chicago, Ill., November 2.—Higher prices for wheat were in favor today. Although an advance of 2½c was recorded for the day, it was nevertheless not an active market in the strict sense of the term. What the election would bring forth was the question, and a great many traders loaded up in the hope that a boom would follow the announcement of the name of the winning candidate for president. The market received its first encouragement from Liverpool, where 4½@4½d advance was reported at the opening. The closing prices at that place were even better, 2 to 2½d gain over Saturday being quoted. Routine news had practically no effect, a slight reaction, followed by a full recovery, succeeding the posting of an increase of 1,395,000 bushels in the visible supply. December wheat opened from 73½ to 73½c, sold between 73½ and 75c, closing at 74½@75c—2¼c higher than Saturday. Cash wheat was strong and 1½@2c higher.

Corn rose in price a little, the only explanation for the advance being the stronger wheat market and the sympathetic relations 1½p 1½tween the grains. There was scarcely any trading, the pit having but a slight attendance at any time. May corn opened at 23½c, advanced to 29½c, closing at 29½@29½c—1½c higher than Saturday. Cash corn was stronger, and ½c higher.

Oats derived assistance in tone and price from the other grains, but the market was an Advance of 2 1-4 Cents.

diday. Cash coin was stronger, and %c higher.

Oats derived assistance in tone and price from the other grains, but the market was lamentably dull. No incident of more than ordinary interest was noted. May oats closed %@%c higher than Saturday. Cash oats were strong early, but later lost their vim and closed only steady.

Provisions—A stronger hog market gave product a lift at the opening, but free offerings and a limited demand soon resulted in an easier feeling and lower prices. Trade was moderately active, January pork closed 2½c higher, January lard unchanged, and January ribs a shade lower.

Paine-Murphy Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, November 2.—Quite adverse to the general expectation the wheat market today had been all one sided. The trade had made up its mind that the feeling would be nervous and the market probably a choppy one, sort of an evening up character, but the tone has been strong the entire session, and fluctuations have been upward with an advance of 2 per cent per bushel from Saturday's close. Liverpool was strong, opening about 1d higher and closing with an advance of 2@2\(^4\)d. The world's wheat shipments promised to be lighter than last week, the falling off at the Danublan ports being about 800,000 bushels. Russian shipments were not reported, but if they, too, should be light, it would be quite a strong feature, as the bear factors of late have been the large Russian and Danubian shipments and heavy primary receipts, and any material decrease in these would undoubtedly show a strong feeling in the wheat trade—much stronger than at present. The amount on passage decreased about 700,000 bushels, which, however, was offset by an increase in these factors of about 800,000 bushels, which, however, was offset by an increase in the English visible of about 800,000 bushels, which, however, was offset by an increase in the English visible of about 800,000 bushels, Paine-Murphy Co.'s Grain Letter.

els. The American visible increased 1,285,-000 bushels. Northwest receipts are beginning to show the falling off predicted a few days ago, the total today being 1,450 cars, against 1,232 last year and 1,763 last week. Clearances were light at 155,000 bushels. While a great many believe that the results of the election will have considerable to do with prices, we are inclined to think the other way, and do not believe prices will be affected materially. We, however, believe the speculative trade will be influenced by the general situation, which at present seems very strong.

Coarse grains were strong and higher. There was quite a good sized increase in the corn visible—1,480,000 bushels—but the cash market was firm and the speculative feeling inclined to the long side. There was moderate buying by shorts with no apparent pressure to sell.

The small receipts of hogs—17,000 against an estimate of 30,000—had no more effect on the provision market other than to cause a steady feeling. There was nothing significant on the small receipts, as shippers are probably remaining home till after election, when they are expected to be heavy.

Smart Stationery. Every season fashionable stationery has s distinct changes, and a girl who does of keep up with them must consider hert behind the times, no matter how good hay be her gifts as a letter writer. Monomay be her gifts as a letter writer. Monomay be her gifts as a letter writer. Monomay be her gifts as a letter writer, and the libra-fashionable show a tendency to the most diminutive patterns. This season's mevalling style is fine entwined letters, inclosed in a round or avail line, like a littosed in a round or oval line, like a litthe frame. The letters of the monogram background inside the framin line is of a contrasting color. Some are gold letters on a blue ground; some silver etters on a blue ground; some sliver letters on a bright red or copper on green, and so on, with any number of variations. And some of the little frames are fancy scroll lines instead of straight lines. These are very pretty, but not quite so fashionable as the plain circles or ovals.

These little monograms are sometimes used in the center at the top of a sheet of paper, sometimes in the left hand upper corner, with the address stamped in the right corner. And apropos of addresses, a very sensible new fashion, which has not very sensible new fashion, which has not appeared by the corner of yet become general, but may do so when people realize its use, is to have the address tamped on the flap of the envelope. The postoffice authorities are always telling us that much trouble would be saved if us that much trouble would be saved if there were an address on every envelope, to which the letter could be returned, and this new fashion settles the question without disfiguring the envelope.

The styles in writing paper itself have not changed greatly since last year. The fashionable stationers do not seem to have brought out anything very new. Perhaps they think that they have discovered just what suits people, and so do not try to make a change until there is a demand for it.

Cream white is always the favorite shade and a heavy vellum or kid-finished paper and a heavy vellum or kid-finished paper the proper kind to use. Of course there are various other shades besides the white blue, rose, gray, and perhaps the most pop-ular among the colors, a pale violet or lav-ender. These colored papers must have nonograms in harmonizing shades, but or ombination of colors that suits the fancy,

A corset that will be of real value in keeping the figure well in shape, and will still prove absolutely pilable and comfortable, is something that the corset makers have not until recently created. The manufacturers, however, are now exhibiting several new models in boneless waists that are especially designed for house gowns.

One of white satin is heavily corded. and the only steels are the two at the front. Four bands of wide blue and white striped satin ribbon encircle the waist, and the upper band is finished with a butterfly bow at the front.

A boneless waist, fashioned after the same model, is of stout open work muslin, corded at intervals, and the ribbon trimmings are of pale pink taffeta. All of the morning waists are short, especially so over the hips. A number of them only me to the waist line, and are kept up shoulder straps. But they are all more or less elaborate, with real lace and rib-bon trimming, and often exquisite hand embroidery gives the finish instead of afternoon.

While crossing that thoroughfare attending to some business, he was struck on the side by a bicycle which was being ridden at a terrific rate of speed and knocked frocibly to the pavement. He was picked up a few minutes later by some street carmen totally unconscious, and was taken to his home in a special car. Physicians were hastily summoned, and in a short while he was resuscitated.

Mr. Hurt was confined to his home until yesterday, when he was able to be out for only a short time. No bones were broken, there being only several bad bruises on his body. He will be all right in a few days. The name of the reckless rider is not known. He rode on without stopping to see how badly his victim was hurt, and has not been seen since.

FIRE LASTED FULLY THIRTY-TWO HOURS More Than Thirty Million Dollars

Worth Property Were Destroyed and Five People Killed.

Panama, November 2.-The Star and Herald publishes the following detailed account of the conflagration at Guayaquil: "On the night of October 5th the port and city of Guayaquil was visited by perhaps the greatest fire in history-if we except that of Nero's Rome.

"The fire is stated to have originated in a suspicious manner in the store of Messrs. Massanovich & Bowski, two North American Jews. Their store was located about the center of the city. At the time a strong and it did not subside for sixty hours, long after the flery element had devastated the whole city to the north and northwest. About two-thirds of the house property and nearly the whole of the commercial quarter were destroyed. The only four banks in the city were razed as also three out of the four newspaper offices, the custom house-containing some $1,000,000 worth of goods-and the church of St. Domingo, a relic of the Spanish occupation.

"The fire spread with indescribable rapidity, and at no time was the fire department able to cope with it. It simply burned itself

"The blaze lasted fully thirty-two hours. Only five people have been known to have lost their lives. It was stated that in a launch, laden with furniture, which caught fire and was swept down with the tide to the island of Puna, five sisters of the Sacred Heart perished, but this could not be verified.

"It is estimated that eight thousand persons were rendered homeless and that the house property destroyed aggregates $15,-000,000. Goods destroyed amount to $15,-000,000, and the loss to the insurance companies is about $3,500,000.

"About a fortnight after the fire the vaults of the banks destroyed were opened and all securities, etc., were found intact. 'A bill has been introduced into the Colombian congress appropriating $30,000 in gold to be devoted to the sufferers of the recent Guayaquil fire." The Star and Herald also says:

"Owing to the frequency of suicides in Chili the daily newspapers of Valparaiso and Santiago propose to suspend the publication of all details respecting such crimes. It is hoped that this may exercise some influence toward reducing the number of

TRIAL WILL BEGIN FRIDAY.

MR. AND MRS. CASTLE WILL EN-TER A PLEA THIS WEEK.

Charge of the Grand Jury Puts the Defendants' Case Down as Ordinary Larceny.

London, November 2.—The Clerkenwell sessions, to which court the trial of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Castle, of San Fran-cisco, upon a charge of shoplifting, was assigned by Magistrate Newton, of the Great Marlborough street police court

Chairman McConnell, of the Clerkenwell sessions, delivered a charge to the jury opon the ordinary course of the cases heard, calling especial attention to the case of Mr. and Mrs. Cast in which he said the facts did not differ from those constituting a case of ordinary larceny, except in respect of the position of the parties ac one for inquiry by a common jury. The trial was then fixed for next Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Castle did not appear in court. Sir Edward Clarke, Sir Frank Lockwood and Mr. Abrahams, of counsel for the defense, met at the chambers of Sir Ed-ward Clarke this afternoon to discuss the course to be taken by the defense at the opening of the trial. It is understood that the chief point under discussion is whether or not Mrs. Castle should plead guilty with an extenuating plea of mental weakness but the counsel declined to disclose the nature of their decision in the matter.

The most interesting piece of news in connection with today's election is the an-councement that the returns will be displayed at the Grand tonight. No such interest has ever been manifested in a political contest since the war and probably not a soul in Atlanta will want to sleep tonight until the result is known. This fact, coupled with the indi-cations of unfavorable weather, will cause a rush to the palatial Grand, where a most perfect and complete return service has been arranged for.

It was indeed a thoughtful piece of enterprise for Mr. DeGive to reserve the Grand tonight for the benefit of his hundreds of patrons that would otherwise be deprived of the pleasure of hearing the all important news tonight. Even if the weather is favorable, which is very doubtful, the streets will be so crowded with the more convivial contingent of admirers of the several candidates, that it will be impossible for the ladies to get any news But none of the street bulletin reports will be as satisfactory for either gentle men or ladies as that arranged for at the Grand. In the streets one would have to struggle through the vast throng of spec tators and then in all likelihood they would get little if any satisfactory news. The idea of opening the Grand for this purpose was with a special view to ac-commodating the ladies. Here they can sit free from crowds and noise and get the news fresh from a magnificent line of special wires every half minute. Several box parties are being arranged for this evening; and election night at the Grand, when the performance will be national and the whole United States will be the stage, will be one long to be re

GROCERY STORE BURNS.—An alarm of fire called the department to the corner of Fort and Houston streets about 9 o'clock last night, where the grocery store of Goldberg Bros. was almost completely destroyed. The fire started in the rear of the store, and its origin is not known. The building was completely gutted, and the stock ruined by water. The stock is insured, but the building is not. The loss will not be over $300.

Professor Wood, the trainer of the Tech team, was one of the umpires who judged the game and it was rumored that he made the decision that gave the game to the Tech team. This, however, was a mis-take, as the decision that gave the Atlanta boys the two extra points was made by a Macon umpire.

Professor Wood is giving general satis-

TILL FILE CLAIMS WAR RAILROADING

IMPORTANT ORDER IS TAKEN

The customers of the Merchants' bank were yesterday given permission by the superior court to file their claims against the trank within ninety days with the receivers, and will be allowed to participate in the general assets of the bank when the division is made.

This important action will be pleasant information to the depositors, as they have been undecided as to what course to pursue to secure their money.

Among the list of depositors with the bank are many carrying only a small amount, and they did not know whether amount, and they did not know whether it would become necessary to employ consel or not. The order of the court which was handed down yesterday morning by Judge Lumpkin decides the question, and it is only necessary for the depositors to file their claims in order to share in the division of assets when the settlement is effected under the order of the court.

The receivers will make a list of the claims filed with them and will submit a statement to Judge Lumpkin at the expiration of ninety days allowed in the order signed yesterday.

SHOW OF THE UNIVERSE.

FOREPAUGH AND SELLS BROS. ARE DUE ON NOVEMBER 11.

A Combination Said To Be of Vast Proportions and Surprising

The circus—the great Adam Forepaugh show, combined with the equally well-known tented enterprise of the Sells Brothers—comes to Atlanta on Wednesday, November 11. That this will be the stellar outdoor amusement event of the present season is a fact not disputed. The individual reputation of the two shows in the past should be sufficient proof of the assertion that combined the aggregation eclipses the fondest hopes or aspirations of other tented enterprises. In other years either the Forepaugh show or that of/the Sells Brothers, was regarded as "money's worth" by the show-going public, which means all the people. In bona fide union the aggregation is said to be surpassingly large.

the aggregation is said to be surpassingly large.

In its zoological department the Forepaugh-Sells show claims the largest and rarest collections of animals ever transported about the country, and in making the claims the management does not rest with glittering generalities. It specifies and defles other circuses to come forward. The Forepaugh-Sells show claims the only polar bear, the only two-horned Sumatra rhinocerous, the only pair—male and femele—of hippopotami, the smallest elephant and more large ones than all would be rivals; the only aquarium of educated and performing seals and sea lions, together with a host of other birds and beasts too numerous to mention.

In its arenic exhibition proper the Forepaugh-Sells show claims to present features where others have acts. Its equestrians are said to be the best of the stars of two continents; its aerialists the most daring, its animal acts unapproachable and a general ensemble unequaled. In the matter of its street pageant the Forepaugh-Sells show claims superiority as in every other department, and invites comparison, and in making all of these claims the management promises faithful fulfillment in Atlanta on Wednesday, November 11th.

Experiences of Many Years Ago. GIVING AN OFFICER THE SLIP

Capt. N. T. Bell Would Not "Set Out" General Bragg's Corn for Colonel. Irishman's Narrow Escape.

Captain N. T. Bell, an old rallroad conductor, who helped to build the Western and Atlantic years ago and afterwards ran on it, is in Atlanta. He spent a number of years on the Cincinnati Southern, was injured some time ago and had to quit railroading. He is a brother of Captain Sanford Bell, a well-known conductor of Atlanta. Captain N. T. Bell is full of interesting reminiscences of railroading in the old days, and he has embodied some of them in a volume. Captain Bell says that the first railroad e ever saw was at Hamburg, S. C. He did not see an engine then, and the first engine he ever saw was at Social Circle, Ga., on the Georgia road. Social Circle was then the terminus of the Georgia road, which was being built from Augusta to Marthasville. Then he was thirteen years old. His father moved from Social Circle to Marietta, Ga. Captain Bell says: "I was at the place where Atlanta stands now when a small boy, and when it was called Whitehall Crossroads. At that time the hotel, postoffice and storehouses were built of hewed logs. But I never once, at that time, thought of it becoming my favorite city as it is at the present day.

"The second engine I ever saw was when the state road was built from Atlanta to Marietta. A light engine was run from Atlanta to Marietta one Saturday evening. It was the first engine that ever ran into the town. When the engine whistled every-body in the town ran as fast as they could. especially the men and the boys, to one spot, where the engine was to stop. I saw horses and mules running away, but never thought of my own mule until I got ready to go home. Then I found that it had broken loose and run away along with the Some time after that young Bell went to work on the road as a section hand. He gives this description of the roadbed and track, which were so different from those of today: "A plece of hewed timber was laid on each side of the roadbed lengthwise and the crossties were laid on the sills, which were called mud sills. A square piece of long sawed timber, called a stringer, was let into the ties. The rail was a flat fron rail with spike holes through the top. It was spiked down on top of the stringer. During the war Captain Bell was run-ning a train between Atlanta and Chattanooga on the state road, "Railroading was almost as bad as being in the army," he says, "for men were run day and night Sundays not excepted. I have gone into Atlanta many times, got off one train and stepped right on another to go back to Chattanooga." In those days when a train got off schedule the conductor sent a flagman ahead to flag down any train coming in the opposite direction. The soldiers did not like the rallroad men and used to say that the trainmen ought to be in the army. Captain Bell handled a great many sol-diers up and down the road. One night he took the Louisiana Tigers out of Atlanta, and by the time they reached Chat-tanooga he concluded that "jungle tigers" would be a better name for them, as they fought among themselves the whole time. Two or three were knocked off the train. They threw the grease buckets and train chains at each other and were a hard of his time watching this wiper, and the latter retorted that it took all his time watching the master machinist.

Captain Bell was at Dalton when the historic engine, the General, was recap-tured from the Andrews raiders, who had stolen it from Engineer Jeff Cain at Big Shanty. "I took a train load of coal with the same engine on her return to Atlanta from Dalton. Joe Renard; who is still run-ning on the Western and Atlantic, was my engineer." At that time the state road was handling a great quantity of corn between Atlanta and Chattanooga for General Bragg's army. There was a colonel at Rome with some troops, and he used to go down to Kingston and order conductors to switch out three or four loads of corn which were waybilled to Bragg's army. One day this colonel met Conductor Bell's train and ordered him met Conductor Bell's train and ordered him to set out three car loads of corn. Bell protested, but the colonel insisted. Finally the conductor pretended to consent and said he would run up to the switch and back down. He walked up to the engine and told the engineer to pull out for dear life. The engineer did so, and they left the colonel looking mad and swearing. A few days later Bell heard that the colonel had gone later Bell heard that the colonel had gone to Calhoun and was lying in wait for him Conductor Bell went through Calhoun at the rate of twenty miles an hour. He says he never did see the colonel again.

Captain Bell had some thrilling experiences during the war, and his reminiscences of those days are very interesting. He was with Major Campbell Wallace when the latter left Knoxville for Georgia. General Longstreet moved out the seconds.

Longstreet moved out the same day. Captain Bell says that one day, when he was running on the Western and Atlantic an engine struck an Irishman, knocked him off the track and hurt him pretty badly. One of the railroad men asked him what engine struck him. The Irishman replied that it was No. 190, but if it had been 200 it would have killed him.

Conductor Bell's reminiscences are full of droll humor and picturesque incidents, told in a homely way, which throw light on rail-roading in the south in the early days. No railroad man can read a page in his book without becoming deeply interested

SAVANNAH TO LIVERPOOL.

The Central Railroad Will Have

Direct Line of Steamships. Savannah, Ga., November 2.-Arrange ents have been perfected between President H. M. Comer, of the Central of Georgia Rallway Company, and William Johnson & Co., of Liverpool, England, one of the largest firms of ship owners and ship charterers, by which Savannah will have direct line of steamers to European ports. Johnson & Co. are to open an office in this city November 15th for the purpose of arranging all preliminary details for the business. The company which is to have charge of this shipping will be incorporated as the Georgia Export and Import Company, with a capital of $50,000 to start with and the privilege of increasing it to $1,000, 600, the object being ultimately that the company shall own ships as well as to charter and operate them. The direct reason for this movement is the disadvantage to which Savannah has been put by reason of high ocean freight rates, as compared with rates from other ports, the result of which has been that Savannah has received less than her proportion of the cotton this season, from which the railroads in this section, as well as the port, have been suf-ferers, and this movement is contemplated to be for the benefit of all. The ships will work directly with all the lines centering here and on the same conditions, and it is arranged that, if necessary, there will be enough of them to handle all the cargoes that are offering for any foreign ports. Another object in view, now that this plan has been accomplished, is the direct ex-portation of western grain through Savannah, this port having had heretofore all the other advantages for such shipments except the proper ocean rate. The credit for the success of this movement is due directly to President Comer, of the Cen
